Accessing Blackboard as a Guest

1. Look for message from noreply@blackboard.jhu.edu in your regular email account. The subject will read “Blackboard AccountCreated”

2. The email will contain your account information, including a temporary password. Note that you will log into Blackboard with your full email address as the username

3. You will want to change your password right away. To do so, click on the link near the bottom of the email.

4. At the top right corner of the Johns Hopkins box, click Open Non JHED Login

5. Enter your username and temporary password into the appropriate fields

6. On the following screen, enter your current (temporary) password and choose a new one

7. On the next screen, click the link to return to the main page

8. Near the top of the window, click on the tab called Community

9. Click on the link for the site you wish to access
